THE MUSEUMS

BELL MUSEUM

Housed in the former railway station building at Hérépian just off the Voie Verte cycle path, the Bell Museum tells the history of the Granier Bell Foundry. This former foundry reveals the secrets of the master founders and craftsmen, makers of bells large and small : how cow bells are hammered, coppered and tuned, the lost wax technique, the profile of the strickle board, on which depends the timbre and accuracy of a bell's note, and how the little steel balls are put in the small brass bells called grelots. This know-how is coveted as far afield as Rio, where the Carnival beats to the rhythm of grelots from the Granier Foundry!

Throughout your visit, you'll be accompanied by the tinkling and chiming of bells of all shapes and sizes. And get a chance to discover the museum's amazing big bell!

RELIGIOUS ARCHITECTURE

ST. JAMES OF COMPOSTELA WAY

THE ARLES OR VIA TOLOSANA WAY (GR 653)

Did you know ?

Nearly 50km of this legendary way from Arles crosses the Grand Orb area, via Joncels, Lunas, Le Bousquet d'Orb and St. Gervais, before continuing to the Tarn. Walkers following it cover the final Mediterranean stages before climbing the Espinouse, which marks the watershed between the Mediterranean and the Atlantic.

MUST-SEE MONUMENTS, the listed historical monument :

VILLEMAGNE ABBEY

Villemagne L'Argentière

The abbey enjoyed its heyday in the Middle Ages thanks to the silver deposits found on its lands. Don't miss : the 14th-century Gothic abbey church and the Miranda Tower, the last vestige of the old Romanesque belltower.

E7

CHURCH OF SAINT-PIERRE-DE-RHÈDES

Lamalou les Bains

A former parish church which became the priory of Villemagne Abbey, Saint-Pierre-de-Rhèdes is a typical example of early Romanesque art. Noteworthy for the originality of its exterior decoration, its outstanding features include two porches incrustated with basalt, one with mysterious inscriptions...

SAINT GEORGE'S CHAPEL

Lunas

Located outside the village in a woodland setting, this largely ruined chapel is a rare example of pre-Romanesque architecture of Visigoth influence. Dated to the 9th or 10th century, its horseshoe arch and quadrangular chancel rank it among just seven buildings of this type to be found in Languedoc.

F5

CHURCH OF SAINT-LOUIS AND ITS ORGAN

Bédarieux

Dating from the early 19th century, the building was part of the former Royal Saint-Louis Hospice. The church is famous first and foremost for its Romantic organ, built by Cavaillé-Coll and a listed historical monument. Every August, the Organ Festival provides the ideal opportunity to enjoy the sound of this venerable instrument.

F7

JONCELS ABBEY

Jonzels

The former abbey of Saint-Pierre-aux-Liens has an impressive, fortified Romanesque belltower as well as a recently restored cloister, both dating from the 12th century. Inside, don't miss the numerous liturgical furnishings: Roman marble altar, statues, chasubles, etc.

INDUSTRIAL ARCHITECTURE : A WEALTH OF MINING HISTORY

Mined for nearly 200 years (from 1770 to 1993), firstly from outcrops, then underground and lastly in opencast mines, to supply the local glassworks, the Graissessac coalfield was an industrial centre of crucial importance for the area. A whole economy developed around lignite, the extraction of which changed the landscape. Numerous vestiges remain in the mining villages.

THINGS TO SEE AND DO

Graissessac : D6

- Two circular mine-themed walks starting from the Graissessac Autrefois (Graissessac in Times Gone By) exhibition space (ask for the leaflet); the Simon Mine (one of the most important sites in the history of the town, recently renovated). Guided tours by Association des pierres et du charbon (+33(0)4 67 95 66 51)
- La Padène geological site : Cliff from which coal was mined.
- Saint Joseph Tunnel : Railway tunnel that linked the pit head (now Plateau Sainte-Barbe) to the railway station of Graissessac-Estréchoux to transport the coal (1857).

Saint Etienne Estréchoux : D6

- The village's former railway station bears witness to its 19th-century industrial past. In 1858, the Graissessac-Estréchoux line to Béziers was built to transport the coal to destinations in the Hérault and elsewhere.

Plaisance, St Geniès de Varensal : C6

- Reconstitution of a mine entrance and memorial (facing the town hall) – the former pit head is the starting point for two short hiking trails (PR – petite randonnée): Mount Marcou and the Upper Mare Valley.

Les Nières and Castanet le Bas, St Gervais sur Mare : D6

- Former nailsmiths' houses and opencast mines (above the village).

Camlong : E6

- Durand Pit Entrance : After underground mining ended, this was retained during opencast mining. The coal extracted from the opencast mines was poured into it through a hopper and transported through a subterranean passage to the railway station at Le Bousquet d'Orb.

La Tour sur Orb : F6

- Lime kiln : This is the village's former lime kiln and one of the last industrial-scale lime kilns still in existence in the former Languedoc-Roussillon region. The site became a listed historical monument in March 2010. Guided tours by Les Amis du Four à Chaux association by appointment, +33(0)4 67 23 08 90

GRAND ORB IN MEDIAEVAL TIMES : POWERFUL LORDS

While the area now covered by Grand Orb has been occupied since antiquity, it was during mediaeval times, between the 9th and 13th centuries, that most of its towns and villages first came into being and then developed into the 16th century.

THE PRINCIPAL VESTIGES OF THAT PERIOD :

THE MEDIAEVAL VILLAGE OF BOUSSAGUES E7

La Tour sur Orb

This fortified village bears witness to the history of the region throughout the last millennium, with three castles, two churches, steep, hollowed-out rocks, streams, ramparts, fortifications and cobbled streets. The lords of Boussagues prospered thanks to the riches of the local mines and played a role in the development of the valley and the village itself. The seigneurie was one of the most powerful in the Upper Languedoc. These two listed castles, former seigneurial seats, and the 12th-century Maison de Bailli make Boussagues one of Grand Orb's most picturesque listed mediaeval villages.

CASTRUM OF MOURCAIROL E8

Les Aires

The castle perches high above the village like an eagle's eyrie. This fort controlled the former Roman road from Béziers to Cahors. Earliest records of it date back to 990. Its four hectares of fortifications housed up to 200 occupants and more – nobles and servants – prior to the Albigensian crusade. It was occupied by the knights of Mercoirol up to the 13th century, then annexed by the lord of Thézan du Poujol and played a defensive role during the Wars of Religion in the 16th century. Today, the site is a listed historical monument. Visitors can enjoy the breathtaking view from the orientation table.

DIO CASTLE G6

Dio et Valquières

Standing at the foot of the Escandorgue overlooking the hills of red earth, or ruffes, the 11th-century castle was built on foundations dating from the Visigoth period. Those vestiges were left by a grandson of Clovis. During the feudal period right up to end of the 17th century, the castle was inhabited by the lords of Dio, including the famous Cardinal Fleury. Today, the castle is privately owned and a listed historical monument.

LUNAS CASTLE F5

The village is overlooked by a rocky outcrop called the "Redondel", formerly the site of a famous fortified castle (1118) belonging to the Baron of Faugères, Viscount of Béziers, who let it be known to the Marshal of Montmorency that the castle of Lunas was impregnable. The castle, the scene of a drama worthy of Shakespeare during the Wars of Religion, was razed in 1627 on Montmorency's orders. The heir, Henri de Narbonne, then built the present castle on the banks of the Gravezon in 1641. .

CASTRUM OF NEYRAN CD6

Saint Gervais sur Mare

The castrum is all that remains of a watchtower and semi-troglodytic, fortified habitation from the early 11th century. The site has a belltower dating from the 12th century and the vestiges of another, later seigneurial residence built in the 14th century. The castrum was gradually abandoned in the 15th century.

Perspective and Viaduct : Embellished by 37 two-hundred-year-old plane trees, the Perspective was originally a dyke, built in the 18th century. While strolling beneath the shade of the plane trees, you can admire the 37 arches of the viaduct built in 1856 for the railway line that linked Béziers to Graissessac.

Giant Ants : Three giant ants reign over the arid place left by former quarries. These monumental works created by artist Jean-Pierre Maurice and put in place by landscapist Claude Chazelle, are 3m long by 2m high and wide.

Railway station canopy : This remarkable glass canopy in pure Eiffel style was completed in 1903 thanks to the generosity of Noémie Berthomieu, a benefactor of Bédarieux.

Balconies : At the time of Bédarieux's industrial heyday, every middle-class family in the town made a point of opening the first floor of their apartments onto the street and decorating them with superb balconies

LAMALOU-LES-BAINS D8

Vestiges of the Belle Époque : The 19th century saw the birth and rise of Lamalou-les-Bains. A railway line was inaugurated in 1889, and a casino and theatre provided entertainment. The town became a favourite place of famous men (André Gide, Alphonse Daudet). From the grand hotels to the spa centre, theatre and casino, the whole eclectic architectural taste of the 19th century is represented here.

VILLEMAGNE-L'ARGENTIÈRE E7

Devil's bridge : About half a mile (1km) outside the village on the road to St. Gervais-sur-Mare, a listed monument of regional historical interest, this 18th century bridge was built to facilitate the transport of coal by cart from Graissessac to Hérépian glassworks. It is a hump-backed bridge supported by two arches.

ROQUANDOUÏRE

Here, an incredibly rich and contrasting, enchanting natural heritage forged men and set the rhythm of history. From the Mediterranean shrubland to the red-soiled ruffles, forests and refreshing lakes and rivers and to the wild, authentic beauty of the limestone Causses, you journey through vertiginous landscapes and gentle, green mountains. Cradled in the Orb Valley, the area is criss-crossed by rivers and is recognised for the profusion and quality of its water. Springs renowned for their numerous benefits have been used for more than two centuries, notably in the thermal spa resorts of Avène and Lamalou-les-Bains.

THE ORB FROM E3 TO D8

A source of wealth and many pleasures – the River Orb: this 136km coastal river rises in the Escandorgue hills and flows into the Mediterranean at Valras Plage. Angling, canoeing and kayaking and the beauty of its banks are its principal attractions.

ORQUE CLIFFS C6

MONT MARCOU C6 ST-GENIÈS DE-VARENSAL

This exceptional, geologically rich site is renowned among speleologists for its famous pothole and its aragonite geode (a green mineral), a pure gem but with restricted access.

THE FOREST OF FIGHTING WRITERS C8 COMBES

Following devastating floods in March 1930 in the Garonne basin, the association of "Fighting Writers" (Écrivains Combattants) and the Touring-Club de France undertook a reforestation campaign of symbolic intention to raise awareness of the major role of forests in preventing floods and to honour the memory of the writers who died in the war defending France (commemorative avenues and roundabouts, war crosses and stelae). Species of trees used: Atlas cedar and Corsican pine, as well as Scots pine, Douglas fir, chestnut trees and Northern red oak. The forest is criss-crossed by numerous footpaths for pleasant strolls or longer hikes and is equipped with picnic tables.

THE RED EARTH OF LAKE SALAGOU G6

DIO, VALQUIÈRES ET BRENAS

The municipalities of Dio et Valquières and Brenas are set in the red earth of the Salagou, at the foot of the Escandorgue volcanoes and sheltered by white limestone cliffs. But where does this red colour come from? The deposits of sandstone and clay, commonly known as ruffes, which built up gradually nearly 270 million years ago, get their red colour from the presence of iron oxide.

USCLADE PARK AND FOREST D8

LAMALOU LES BAINS

With its majestic cedar trees, Usclade Park is the «green lung» of Lamalou-les-Bains. This peaceful place attracts numerous strollers and includes a pretty little bandstand dating from the 19th century set against a backdrop of greenery. Leading on from the park is a superb pine forest, which is the starting point for numerous hiking paths.

MERQUIÈRE PASS G6

BRENAS

Several springs rise at Merquièr Pass, including the spring that runs into Lake Salagou. From there, it snakes between basalt rock and heath, which the broom turns a bright yellow in springtime.

THE CAUSSE F7

BEDARIEUX

It was the workers of Bédarieux who created this landscape of drystone walls and masets (small stone cottages) with their own hands. This unique landscape of shrubland and orchards will inspire anyone willing to look and listen. Numerous trails start from the town centre up onto the causses, offering a variety of walks.

BEDARIEUX

AVENE

Monts d'Orb Lake, extending from Ceilhes to Avène over six kilometres, is the ideal place for an afternoon's angling. Various species of fish swim in its waters, including trout, pikeperch, perch and carp. Upstream, the river has a number of wild access points.

MONTS D'ORB DAM D3

AVENE

The Monts d'Orb dam was built by the Compagnie du Bas Rhône-Languedoc between 1960 and 1962. Its principal mission is to irrigate the plains of the Béziers region and supply drinking water to the western Hérault and southern Aude, especially in summer. It is equipped to produce electricity. The Monts d'Orb reservoir has the capacity to stock 30 million cubic metres of water.

BOULOC LAKE E3

CEILHES

Situated 100 metres outside the village, Boulouc Lake is ideal for water sports such as swimming and windsurfing. The high quality of the water makes it a great place to bathe for young and old alike.

GEOLOGICAL VIEWPOINT G7

CARLENCAS

Situated halfway between Bédarieux and Lake Salagou overlooking a valley, the tiny village of Carlenças was established in the Visigoth period on the final extremity of a basaltic lava flow (black rock) at an altitude of 458m. This volcanic site with its curious well shafts covered by masonry domes huddles around the church of Saint Martin (11th century). 300m from the centre, a geological viewpoint and information panel on the edge of a natural slope explains the history of the region's rocks.

VERNIÈRE SPRING E8

Naturally sparkling and enriched with numerous minerals and trace elements. On 4 February 2017, the list of award winners of the world's best mineral waters was unveiled: among 50 mineral waters from 20 different countries, Vernière water won the award in the premier category, ranking it as the best water in the world.

AN AREA MADE FOR WINE

THE WINES PRODUCED IN GRAND ORB HAVE THE FRESHNESS TYPICAL OF VINES GROWN AT ALTITUDE

Planted at altitude, these mountain vineyards yield red, white and rosé wines that the growers craft with passion and pride. Which is why the wines of Grand Orb have everything to please.

The Upper Orb Valley PGI Wine Syndicate is made up of a dozen individual winegrowers and two cooperatives who between them farm 1,000ha of vines.

Growing numbers of tourists every year go to meet the growers at their wineries and take part in wine events. Wine tours, walks and tastings are also on offer in Grand Orb.

Three colours, dozens of flavours :

Whites : Mainly made from the Chardonnay grape.

Rosés : Numerous rosés made from Syrah or Syrah-Chardonnay blends.

Reds : Although there are plenty of varieties (Merlot, Syrah, Grenache, and others), the most characteristic reds are a blend of three grapes: Syrah (50%) and two others, e.g. Carignan, Merlot, Grenache, Cinsault or Pinot.

In recent years, numerous wines of the IGP Haute Vallée de l'Orb appellation have won awards from the different wine guides and in national and international competitions.

TO MEET THE WINEGROWERS

YOU CAN DISCOVER THE LOCAL WINES ON SALE DIRECTLY FROM VINEYARD SHOPS.

Ask the advisors at the Tourist Office for further information.

Did you know that Grand Orb has the Vignobles & Découvertes quality label for wine tourism ?

"Minervois, St. Chinian, Faugères and Upper Languedoc" is now a nationally recognised wine tourism destination thanks to Vignobles & Découvertes, one of 70 destinations to have received this invaluable designation. An acknowledgement of the quality of the vineyards in our area, this brand supports local wine tourism by promoting the region and savoir-faire, but first and foremost the men and women who, every day, work to make this destination what it is.
